Subject: E-Serials workshop: Change of Example

For all you e-serial trainers -- Lisa Furubotten just brought it to mine and Les' attention that the serial title listed as the example of an earlier title listed on the website for the later title (Session 5, Title Change - Same Site / Postmodern jewish philosophy bitnetwork) has changed again and if participant's later try to find that title, they won't be able to. It has now been taken over the the University of Virginia and renamed the Journal of Textual Reasoning. At some point, we will be revising the workshop to find a current example, but in the meantime, you might want to mention to participants that this example is no longer available online. Thanks and let me know if you have any questions. --Steve
